KAIROS APPOINTS MARIO UNALI AS HEAD OF INVESTMENT ADVISORY, BOLSTERING THE WEALTH MANAGEMENT UNIT

Kairos, a high-end boutique of Asset and Wealth Management for high net worth private and institutional clients, has appointed Mario Unali as head of the Investment Advisory team.

Unali's appointment, effective since last July, is part of the process of strengthening Kairos' Wealth Management division, which recently welcomed Claudio Barberis as head of Discretionary Mandates. This appointment represents an important step in the company's growth strategy for high-end advisory services, beefing up a team of professionals dedicated to sophisticated investment solutions.

Mario Unali graduated (summa cum laude) in Economics from LUISS University in Rome and began his career in 2006 at KPMG Advisory as a business analyst. He joined Kairos two years later as part of the multi-manager team in the London office, where he worked first as an analyst and then as a portfolio manager, managing multi-asset and alternative investment strategies. In 2021, he moved to Milan, where he continued his professional development within Kairos, ultimately becoming head of the advisory service. Unali is also co-portfolio manager of Kairos' multi-manager solutions.

“With this appointment, we give a further boost to our Wealth Management unit and leverage Mario's career path, bringing nearly 20 years of experience, most of which at Kairos, along with a deep knowledge of financial markets,” commented Alberto Castelli, CEO of Kairos. “Following the strengthening of our asset management division, we are now consolidating the Investment Advisory pillar, with the aim of addressing the needs of an increasingly complex clientele through a strategic and professional approach, offering more customized and high-value-added investment solutions, while maintaining the high standards that have always distinguished the company.”
